The prize story of the week is about a co-ed who was driving the family bus down Connecticut Avenue when she saw a motorcycle cop following her. A glance at the speedometer assured her that all was well, and as she was driving on the right side of the street, and had both her permit and registration card with her, she prepared to receive the gentleman.

Said preparation consisted of powdering her nose, and adjusting her hat, meanwhile driving with judicious use of her knees on the steering wheel. In a few moments the officer drew alongside and gave her a ticket, charging her with reckless driving, since her hands had been off the wheel. And tears availed nothing.

The moral is, a smoke screen is safer to use on policemen than smokeless face powder.

Coach Crum changes his mind after a visit to his home state of Pennsylvania, and decides to move there. He will coach the Allegheny College team in 1929. Whether Coach Pixlee will take over the coming edition of the Ironmen himself, or delegate the task to another, is not yet decided. Anyhow, the six who reported for spring football will have to get their exercise in some other way.

This Troubadour show ought to be good. We saw one of the choruses carrying two bundles. We asked to see the contents of the larger bundle, and she showed us a pair of dainty slippers. She refused to show us what was in the smaller package, asserting that it was her Troubadour costume.

Please, gentlemen, don't rush. There are tickets enough for all. You see, the Troubadours lacked funds, so they economized on costumes. Yes, two in the front row, Jimmie.

We hope the audience will not do as did the audience in Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," which on viewing the "Royal Nonesuch" heaved antique eggs, ancient cabbages, and over-ripe tomatoes. We expect the acts to miss their cues, get few Curran Calls, and avoid all Clinchers.

The Spring Formal is slated for a week from tonight, and most of the desirable dates are already signed up. We hear. Wisdom demands that reservations be made early. It must be going to be a success, for Bucky doesn't look worried any more.

The Committee on Student Life gets liberal and allows the Liberal Club of George Washington full privileges on the campus. So far, the Liberal Club hasn't been quite so liberal in sending an invitation to the committee to join. As Pat said, "Gimme a Liberal Club, or I'll get publicity." For proof, see any newspaper referring to the situation in the Smoky City.

Monopolies continue. The Class of 1929 wins the interclass swimming meet for the fourth time in four years. When it hastily grabs its diplomas in June, maybe the other classes can get somewhere in the water. We might be pardoned for saying that the juniors, sophomores, and freshmen are not in the swim now.

And this Dorsey man is another monopoly. Anything that is awarded on the basis of a speech, he gets. First the G. W. championship for the second or third year, we forget which, in the intercollegiate oratorical contest, and then the Davis Prize Speaking this year. How much longer, O, Harryman?

Elmer Schatz, the Superintendent of Maintenance of the University, is maintaining a home for foundlings, such as unwanted textbooks, deserted garments, and miscellaneous junk. He urgently requests that all who have lost things, and anybody else who can guess what has been lost, call to identify the property which he now guards.

The Army's invasion of the University is repulsed with four losses and four victories, and the decisive contest ending 6-1, 7-7, with G. W. ahead. We hear that this is the first rallying forth that the Army tennis team has done for years, and if they receive more rough treatment, maybe they'll hibernate for another century or so.

Doctor Crandall, over in the Department of Fine Arts, wins a prize for telling the Spanish government how to build a lighthouse that would honor Columbus, who, as you know, is the well-known navigator who discovered this new world a few centuries back. Not bad for a man who has only the waters of the Potomac and those on campus to observe, is it? Congratulations.

The Hatchet has a surprise for you in a week or so.

CRUM RESIGNS AS G. W. COACH FOR ALLEGHENY

Attractive Offer Gives Coach
Crum Fine Opportunity
For Advancement

CRUM EXTENDS WISHES
FOR SUCCESS OF PIXLEE

Coach Crum Has Directed Football
at G. W. for the Past Five Years

With the announcement of the resignation of H. Watson Crum, who will next year coach the football team of Allegheny College, of Meadville, Pa., George Washington sportdom received one of the biggest surprises of the current year.

Until last Wednesday it was expected that Coach Crum would again direct the Buff and Blue gridironers of 1929; in fact, he had actually expected to himself. However, when he made a visit to Allegheny College the first part of last week, he received such an attractive offer from the Pennsylvania school that he felt he could not refuse the opportunity for self-advancement which the new position offers him.

Resignation Tendered

Returning to Washington on Friday, Crum immediately tendered his resignation to take effect at the end of the present term. Although it has not yet been accepted, there is little doubt that the administration will stand in the way of Crum's advancement.

At Allegheny, Crum will have an opportunity to step into the limelight as one of the leading coaches of the country. The last two mentors at the mountaineer school have gone directly from there to Lafayette and Dartmouth. Allegheny has at present an abundance of football material, and Crum is expected to turn out a strong team. The regard with which Crum is held by the Allegheny officials is seen when it is realized that he was chosen from a field of 26 candidates.

Scarcity of Material

Always handicapped by a scarcity of men at G. W., Crum learned at Allegheny that never less than fifty men always reported for the team. According to Crum, "the proposition sounds like heaven."

In losing Crum, George Washington is parting with the man who has given it during his 5-year regime, the present high position which it now occupies in the gridiron world. Experience a disastrous season last year, the popular mentor was "handicapped" throughout the season by injuries, ineligibilities, and other misfortunes. In leaving George Washington, Crum imparts his sincerest greetings and wishes for success to the incoming athletic director, James E. Pixlee.

DANCE FOLLOWS SHOW

Lido Orchestra Will Be Led by Johnny Slaughter; Tickets Three Dollars

Anticipating a large attendance and a most successful dance, plans are progressing rapidly for the George Washington University Spring Formal to be held in the large ballroom of the Wardman Park Hotel on the evening of Wednesday, May 8.

This dance, which was very popular about four years ago, is being revived with the hope that it will take the place socially that has been left by the disappearance of the Junior and Senior proms. Assisting "Bucky" Herzog, chairman of this year's Interfraternity Prom, are Don Igglehart, George Von Dachenhausen, Lyman Dishman, James Lumsden and Darrell Crain.

As Johnny Slaughter is directing an eleven-piece lido unit, little to the way of music and entertainment will be lacking. Decorating the ballroom will be the banners of the various fraternities and clubs represented on the campus.

The subscription is being held to three dollars a couple and it is urged that tickets be bought immediately as the committee is anxious to obtain a line on the number of tickets sold, so that additional features may be offered.

Patrons Prominent

Patrons and patronesses for the prom are to be as follows: President and Mrs. Marvin Dean and Mrs. Hodgkins; Dean and Mrs. Wilbur; Dean and Mrs. Doyle; Dean Rose; Secretary and Mrs. Kayser; Comptroller and Mrs. Holmes; Dean Henning; Miss Henning; Dean and Mrs. Borden; Dean and Mrs. Van Vleck; Dean and Mrs. Lapham; Dean and Mrs. Bradley; and Dean and Mrs. Ruediger.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the committee, from the Bursar's Office, Dean of Men's Office, or from any of the following men who are selling tickets: Bob Gray, Francis Tompkins, Charles Baldwin, Leonard Jensen, James Lumsden, Bill Dismer, Don Igglehart, Harold Farmer, Bill Karnes, Jack Dishman and Bill Snow.

AWARD GIVEN G. W. PROF

Professor Norris I. Crandall, member of the faculty of George Washington University, was awarded a prize of five hundred dollars for his design of a lighthouse monument to Christopher Columbus submitted in the international architectural contest, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Of the seven Americans who received awards in the competition three were awarded prizes of $2,000 and four got prizes of $500.

COMINS SELECTS SIX FAIREST G. W. CO-EDS

Taylor, Le Merle, Crowley, Ferguson, Rees and Viers Are Honored
By Washington Painter

Helen Taylor, Eugenie Le Merle, Mary Crowley, Sally Ferguson, Margaret Rees, and Leona Viers were selected as the six most charming co-eds at George Washington University by Eben F. Comins, at his studio last week.

Mr. Comins, who is a famous portrait painter in Washington circles, selected these girls from the twelve receiving the highest number of subscription votes during the Beauty Contest. This contest was conducted under the auspices of the Cherry Tree, by representatives of the sororities under the direction of Barbara Miller. Full page photographs of the six girls will appear in a special section of the Cherry Tree, together with a letter written by Mr. Comins.

Mr. Comins made his decision on the basis of personal charm and type, rather than on definite measurements of beauty. He considers these six as true representatives of the American girl of today.

All of the girls are prominent on the G. W. campus: Helen Taylor is retiring captain of the Girls' Rifle Team, Treasurer of W. A. A., a member of Hour Glass, and of Pi Beta Phi.

Eugenie Le Merle is president of Sphinx Honor Society, and a member of Alpha Delta Pi. Mary Crowley is a member of Kappa Delta. Sally Ferguson is a reporter on the Hatchet Staff, and a member of Alpha Delta Pi.

Margaret Rees is vice president of this senior class, a representative on the Women's Advisory Council, and a member of Alpha Delta Pi. Leona Viers is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha.

The Cherry Tree in which the pictures are to appear will be on sale the middle of May.

Gamma Eta Zeta Holds Banquet And Initiation Ceremonies Tomorrow

Seven girls will be initiated into Gamma Eta Zeta, women's honorary journalistic fraternity, after the annual banquet of the fraternity tomorrow at the Hotel Lafayette. Dean and Mrs. Henry Grafton Boyle, Secretary, and Mrs. Elmer Louis Kayser, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Bement, and Mr. Audley Smith will be among the honor guests.

The seven initiates, all of whom are prominent in publications, are: Dorothy Albert, Ruth Campbell, Miriam DeHaas, Elizabeth Ford, Margaret Louise Loeffler, Hazel Peterson and Wanda Webb.

VOD-VIL ACTS TO APPEAR IN FIRST TRY-OUT TONIGHT

Greatest Crowd Is Expected To Attend Single Greek
Letter Show

"WORLD'S WORST VOD-VIL"
TO BE UNIVERSITY'S BEST

Midnight Performance Made Necessary by Popular Student Demand; Many Acts Entered

Try outs for the Annual Vod-Vil will be held tonight and tomorrow night at the University. Ralph Hilton announced that the place for the try-outs will be made known to the various organizations in ample time to enable those who expect to appear to make proper arrangements.

Two meetings have been arranged for to make sure that all fraternities and sororities can assemble their act on either one of the two nights. At the time of the try outs a competent committee will pass upon the merits of the competing acts and judge whether or not they will be allowed to appear on the program. It was announced that finished acts are not expected at the time of the initial appearance but that they will be judged upon the possibilities which they seem to possess.

Show Popular

The announcement that the Annual George Washington University Vod-Vil will be held as a midnight performance at the Wardman Park Theatre, on Friday, May 10, was greeted with such enthusiasm that the success of the show is assured.

It was only after extended effort on the part of the Dramatic Board and Ralph Hilton, Vod-Vil manager, that arrangements could be made to present the Greek letter acts in conjunction with the Troubadour production of "Sometime Soon."

The present edition of "The World's Worst Vod-Vil" is expected to surpass all former attempts on the part of fraternity men and sorority women to be both funny and entertaining. Many of the social organizations have spent considerable time and energy in developing their offerings, some having gotten under way soon after the beginning of the school year, last September.

Capacity Crowd Expected
In terms of attendance it is anticipated that all records will be smashed. It is for this reason that all those who wish to attend are urged to secure their tickets as soon as they are put on sale. It is understood that a second performance will not be given for the reason that the theatre will be available for one night only.

It is at the present time doubtful whether the cup which was presented to the group giving the best act last year, will be presented this year. A final decision will be reached and later announced will be made with respect to an award.

This year's show will be handled in a much faster and more efficient manner because of the modern facilities offered on the Wardman Park Theatre stage.

Most of the fraternities and sororities have already indicated that they will enter acts and those who have not yet done so are expected to appear in time for the tryouts today and tomorrow. Most of the acts are original and some of them are comic satires on contemporary campus activities.

GLEE CLUB IN CONCERT APPEARS WITH QUARTET

The George Washington University Women's Glee Club gave a concert at the Methodist Church in Ballston, Va., on Friday at 8:00 o'clock. Several members of the Men's Glee Club assisted them in the concert.

The joint concert of the Men's and Women's Glee Clubs was given at the Mt. Vernon Methodist Church on Tuesday. The pastor of the Church recognized several members of the clubs and gave them a special welcome.

No definite program is set for the coming week, but plans are under way for several concerts.

CAST AND CHORUSES OF
OVER SIXTY IN SHOW

High Class Specialty Numbers to Present Old University Favorites
and New Talent

With less than a week remaining until the opening performance of "Sometime Soon," by the George Washington University Troubadours, at the Wardman Park Theatre, on Monday, May 6, all indications point to the best production ever presented by the well known organization.

A large cast and four choruses of over sixty members will be put through their final drills on the Wardman stage next Sunday by Dennis Connell, well known and popular director, in a final attempt to polish the few rough spots which still remain. Regular training extended over a period of eight weeks has resulted in what is said to be the best and smoothest musical comedy presentation to be presented under a collegiate banner.

Book and Music Good

This year's show is said to be far above the usual standard in as far as the book, music, and staging is concerned. Ralph Hilton, who wrote the book, has turned out a bit of work which reflects the work of a whole summer, and the music which represents the combined efforts of several students is said to possess a greater variety of melodies than that in former years when the whole score was written by a single student. Peggy Hoover has devised a series of interesting costumes for the three girl choruses. The long and flowing dresses of former years have been discarded in favor of shorter and less cumbersome outfits. This step was made necessary by the more intricate dance routines which were secured and taught by Julia Denning, who is directing the female choruses.

An added feature to this year's production is a men's dancing chorus, which is under the supervision of Ralph Kennedy, who was formerly a member of the Penn State Thespians, nationally known men's collegiate musical comedy organization. Under Kennedy's tutelage the men have perfected several routines which are both original and interesting.

At no time in the history of the organization has such a large company been employed in a single production. The added number has, however, been worked into a more rapidly moving and more spectacular show than any of the former smaller productions have been.

Fine Voices in Cast

John Silaz, handsome leading man, who plays the part of Gordon in the show, is the possessor of a silver voice which has been trained through eight years of solo work. He is being depended upon to put several of the most catchy tunes across to the audience in such a way as to send them away humming the new melodies to themselves. Harriet-Rissler, who will be seen in the role opposite Silaz, has a voice which blends perfectly with that of the hero.

In addition to the regular action of the comedy, which is based upon an unsophisticated love entanglement, there will be a number of specialty numbers which are being held as a surprise for those who attend during the week of May 6. While the specialty numbers will bring to the footlights some of the old George Washington favorites, there will likewise be new talent of a high caliber. Although an effort is being made to keep secret the exact special numbers which will appear, it has been (Continued on page 5)

New Ghost Issue Has Sex Questionnaire

Contains Also Discussion on American Drama and Description of "Sometime Soon"

The Theatrical Number of the Ghost, which will appear the latter part of this week, includes several discussions devoted to drama, and a sex questionnaire which is said to rival the one which figured in the famous University of Missouri controversy.

In addition to testimonials of famous actors and actresses, and a discussion of the American drama, the issue contains a novel description of the Troubadours' musical comedy, "Sometime Soon." To complete the number there are numerous clever drawings, original poems, and spicy jokes. Emily Pilkinton is Editor-in-Chief of the issue.

The Exchange Number is scheduled to follow the Theatrical Number the last of May.

WE ASK YOU

Resting on The Hatchet desk is an anonymous communication threatening the publication with dire consequences if the news of a certain organization does not appear in this issue of The Hatchet. Faculty investigation is the cudgel which the brave, unknown writer holds over the heads of the Board of Editors.

Just under this slip of paper is another, asking that a certain story, pages in length, be printed exactly as written and with a headline as composed by the author of the article. The fact that the story is worth half a column instead of two columns in length, as it is written, and the fact that the headline will fit no size of type used on The Hatchet are disregarded. The writer wants the story printed as written.

A third bit of paper takes The Hatchet to task for writing a story in advance of an event, and consequently making an error because of a last-minute change in the program of the event, which occurred after The Hatchet had gone to press.

The final note on the pile is a scribbled notation from a reporter, saying that he was unable to get news from a certain club, because news of that club was omitted from the previous issue of The Hatchet.

Such is the usual run of complaints that come to the paper from various sources every week or so. And The Hatchet, usually silent, asks that the side of the paper be heard.

The Board of Editors, composed of students who are carrying full programs in the University, gives up every Sunday night, and parts of every Friday and Monday nights, in order that the paper may come to the student on time. For this, the Board of Editors receives no compensation, either monetary or academic, unless an occasional complimentary ticket to some University affair may be called remuneration for its work. Whatever honor may rest in being known as members of the Board of Editors is their reward, also.

Every week it must prevent active press agents from receiving too much space in the paper for insignificant organizations. Every week all the news must be secured from everyone at the University, or another complaint is received. Every week groups of students must be coaxed into releasing certain information that is important to all. Every week pages and galleys of copy must be read and reread time after time to prevent errors. And every week some articles must be omitted because The Hatchet cannot print every line of copy it receives in the four or six pages available.

Yet errors do appear in print, and sometimes important items to the persons directly concerned are left out. The Board of Editors is not infallible. But it asks that before complaints are addressed to it, the writers consider the number of weeks when the paper has served them uncomplainingly and accurately.

OHIO GIRL CONTINUES IN CONDITION OF COMA

WORCESTER, Mass. (IP).—Victim of a strange coma which has baffled specialists for months, Miss Helen Buschman, 21, formerly a student at Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio, began her thirteenth month of semi-consciousness this week.

Since she was struck by a motor bus in Painesville on January 15, 1928, Miss Buschman has shown gradual signs of improvement. She is now able to eat soft food and can move her arms and legs. She sits up from time to time, but she has not spoken a word since the accident. The prevailing medical opinion is that the shock destroyed certain brain cells, which have not yet been restored.

SUPPRESSION OF NEWS OPPOSED BY SPEAKER

North Carolina Publicity Director Says Non-Censorship Policies Prove Beneficial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (IP).—In the effort to suppress unfavorable news stories that originate in their campuses, many educational institutions are injuring their relations with the public and the press, R. W. Madry, director of the news bureau of the University of North Carolina, said in an address before the annual meeting of the Association of College News Bureaus, in session at Vanderbilt University.

"Real news can't be suppressed," Madry said. "Real news will out, regardless of attempts toward suppression on the part of college authorities. True, it may be suppressed for the time being, but the fact remains that a good story that is fit to print is going to get into print sooner or later."

"Once newspapers learn that an institution is trying to suppress a story, the chances are nine out of ten they will give that particular story a much bigger play than they would have done had it been given to the papers when it first broke."

Madry said that he had observed the results of a non-censorship policy at the University of North Carolina. The university had never seen fit to adopt a policy of censorship, he said, and as a result the newspapers have confidence in its news service.

"What part the news service has had in the growth of the institution is a matter of speculation," Madry said, adding that the enrollment had trebled.

"Any educational institution that adopts a policy of non-censorship of news is certain to get unfavorable publicity now and then, but if the institution is making real progress, the favorable publicity will more than offset the unfavorable kind."

FORENSIC FRATERNITY TO INITIATE MEMBERS

10-Yr. Man Still Lauds This Smoke

Utica, N. Y.

Larus & Bro. Co.,
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

Just a line to let you know where some of your tobacco has been going for the last ten years.

I have been smoking Edgeworth for the past ten years; in fact, since I started smoking, and it is just as good now as it was then. Have given other brands a fair trial, but there is none like Edgeworth. During that time I have had costly pipes and some not so costly, but I have decided that it is not the pipe but what is in it that counts.

With best wishes for your continued success in the manufacture of this high grade tobacco, I am,
Sincerely,

ELECTRICITY— the modern prospector

A STOUT heart; a burro laden with pick, shovel, and the bare necessities of life; and the prospector was ready for the gold rush—Sutter's Mill, the Pike's Peak country, Cripple Creek, Klondyke. A scattered trail of half-worked claims marked his sacrifices.

To-day mining is a business, with electricity replacing wasteful brawn in mine and mill.

The deep mine, with electric lights, hoists, and locomotives; the surface mine with huge electric shovels scooping up tons of ore in a single bite; the concentrating mill with its batteries of electrically driven machines; the steel mill with its constant electric heat—here are but a few of electricity's contributions to the mineral industries.

So in every industry, electricity increases production and cuts costs. It is the modern prospector, leading the way into wider fields and tapping undeveloped resources—that we may enjoy a finer civilization and a richer, fuller life.

You will find this monogram on powerful motors that drive heavy mining machinery and on tiny motors that drive sewing machines. Both in industry and in the home it is the mark of an organization that is dedicated to electrical progress.

COLONIAL TENNIS TEAM TIES ARMY, BEATS GENERALS

Darkness Ends Army Meet With G. W. Leading in Deciding Match of Afternoon

CONSINE, PHILLIPS LEAD IN W. & L. MATCH

Others Also Play Well in Tying Powerful Aggregation of West Point

Darkness last Saturday prevented the George Washington netmen from attaining national fame in tennis, when their all-important match with the powerful Army six was halted in the ninth and deciding match with G. W. in the van. Up to the point when the match was halted, George Washington had taken one set, 6-0 and the second had reached a 7-7 deadlock.

Had the Buff and Blue racketeers been able to win that match, the tie of 4-4 would have been broken. Considine and Phillips were both playing marvelous ball, and victory appeared certain for the Colonials.

Earlier in the week, the Buff and Blue had opened their season auspiciously by taking an overwhelming victory from the Washington and Lee courtmen, 6-1.

Army Team Tied

The Army team, led by Jack Stone, a Washington boy, gave the George Washington contingent an up and going battle from the start. The Pointers got away to a strong start when they took two of the first three singles matches.

Captain Stone defeated Don Sickler in the initial encounter of the afternoon with a terrific overhand which, on several occasions, gave him crucial points.

However, the tide turned quite favorably when Bob Considine brushed Helm decisively in the feature. The Army No. 1 was completely outclassed and the G. W. ace turned in a 6-1, 6-4 victory.

Army again took the lead when Arnold lost to Watson; and they widened their margin by annexing the Phillips-Lewis encounter. Captain Larry Phillips started with a very erratic set which gave Lewis, the Army No. 2, an early advantage. Phillips settled, however, in the second set and played beautiful tennis to cap 6-1.

The third set resulted in an even duel with Phillips on the loag end of a 4-1 count, when Lewis came back to win at 7-5. A disputable decision by the referee in this set over a match point, went against Phillips when the G. W. man had a chance to win at 6-4.

Staubly and Seidel Win

The Army team went into the fifth match with a two-point lead, but G. W. evened the score at three-all when Staubly defeated Brooke and Seidel took his match with Rothschild.

Both frays were easy victories, but Staubly's win over his opponent is notable, in that the Army man lost only one of thirteen matches last year.

The outcome of the day rested on the result of the remaining three doubles events.

Army started off with Helm and Brooks teamed against Sickler and Arnold. The Pointers took the match in straight sets.

Meanwhile G. W. was winning with the Staubly-Seidel combination showing marked superiority over their opponents.

The deciding match between Considine and Phillips and the Army pair, had reached a late stage in the second set when darkness forced the players to retire.

W. & L. Easily Beaten

The W. & L. netmen were no match for the Colonials on Tuesday of last week, who captured all but one of the singles and both doubles matches.

Bob Considine beat Gooch, the No. 1 of the Generals in the feature match, and Captain Larry Phillips disposed of Scott in the only affair of the afternoon that three games were needed to decide.

The result of the No. 3 singles was not decided until after Staubly. G. W. No. 4, had defeated Braedy, 6-0, 6-2. This outcome gave the Colonials an undisputed edge and the split of the remaining singles clinched the victory at 4-1.

Generals Take One Set

W. & L.'s only success came with the defeat of Don Sickler by Pilley in the No. 3 singles. Pilley was undoubtedly the superior of the two. The last one-man contest went to G. W. when Arnold took Cox into camp.

The doubles contests were both taken by G. W. in straight sets. Considine and Phillips after winning an exciting 9-7 match, had an easy time with the second. In the finale, Staubly and Seidel took Braedy and Scott into camp without difficulty.

George Washington's next encounter will be with the Navy. The Colonials will travel to Annapolis this Saturday afternoon and a large gallery of G. W. fans is expected to make the trip with their favorites.

We are reliably informed that the above familiar phrase is applied mainly to certain poor dears in whom all the piquant runs to "pulchritude." A gargoyle is "int'restin'", at least. Better pick 'em freckled and friendly than lovely but lacking.

And getting our minds back on business . . . innocuous, unmitigated mildness rather palls in a cigarette, too.

Chesterfields are mild, certainly—but "aren't they all"? The point is that Chesterfields are also "int'restin'". They satisfy—and right there is why they gather in the gang.

Taste—the taste and richness of quality tobacco—that's what matters. And the blend can't be copied; you know you are smoking a Chesterfield, nothing else, at every puff.

Speaks on John Marshall And Constitution; Chas. Shanner Takes Second Place

ELMER LOUIS KAYSER PRESIDES AT CONTEST

Dorsey Has Twice Been Representative of G. W. U. in National Oratorical Contest

Harryman Dorsey, twice representative of George Washington University in the National Oratorical Contests, added to his victories the Davis Speaking Prize, when he was unanimously conceded first place last Friday evening, April 26. Speaking on John Marshall and the Constitution, Dorsey was immediately chosen for the first honor.

Charles T. Shanner, speaking on Jefferson and the Constitution, was given second place in preference to P. H. Keough, who spoke on the Significance of the Constitution. Jose B. Martinez, another contestant, was honorably mentioned. He spoke on the Constitution of the United States.

Speaking of Marshall, Dorsey said: "But the remarkable fact is that he came to his wonderful conclusions with no aid but the resources of his native genius. The great Coke said, 'Reason is the life of the law.' And this was a quality which a gracious God had lavished upon Marshall."

In his eulogy of Jefferson, Shanner said: "It was Jefferson's task to reach, and organize, and aid this large group of common people which was being suppressed by the rich and the aristocracy of the new nation."

Keough attempted to prove that the Constitution is "the most liberal in the world and that it governs the happiest and most contented group of people."

In a fiery oration, Jose Martinez said: "Without the Constitution there would be no such liberty; no government so free as our own. We must replace this spirit of non-interest in the government and see to it that the insidious advancements of so-called reformers are oppressed."

Elmer Louis Kayser, of the University Faculty, presided over the contest. The judges, who based their decision upon content, delivery, and stage presence, were: Mr. C. Walter Young, Instructor in Political Science; Mr. Paul E. Gropp, Instructor in German, and Mr. W. Stull Holt, Acting Assistant Professor of History. The judges were all of this University.

The committee on arrangement for the event composed of Professor De Witt Clinton Croissant, Dr. George Leslie Farnham, and Mr. Ray C. Crowell, secretary and treasurer of the George Washington University Chapter of the Phi Delta Gamma National Forensic Fraternity.

NEW LAW TEXT GIFT OF AUTHOR

Recent Work On Practice And Procedure of Supreme Court is Revision

REYNOLDS ROBERTSON IS STUDENT IN LAW SCHOOL

Technical Treatment of Bills of Original Action Well Received by Profession

Reynolds Robertson, a student in the Law School, has presented to the Law Library a copy of his new book entitled "Practice and Procedure in the Supreme Court of the United States," recently published by Prentice-Hall, Inc.

This book is a revision of Mr. Robertson's earlier book "Appellate Practice and Procedure in the Supreme Court of the United States." Since the publication of his first book statutes have been passed abolishing the writ of error and substituting an appeal in cases where a writ of error under preexisting statutes would lie. This legislation necessitated a revision of the Rules of the Supreme Court.

Mr. Robertson's new book written after these statutory changes and the revision in the Rules gives the procedure and practice followed at present in the lower courts and in the Supreme Court in applying for and perfecting an appeal to the Supreme Court and in applying for a writ of certiorari from that court.

"Appellate Practice and Procedure in the Supreme Court of the United States," also contains a discussion of the practice on certified questions from the Circuit Court of Appeals and from the Court of Claims.

At the suggestion of a number of members of the bar the author has included in his second book a chapter outlining the practice usually followed in original actions brought in the Supreme Court of the United States. In this chapter, original actions are defined and the distinction between original actions and original jurisdiction is explained. The procedure to be followed in pursuing the original actions is discussed in paragraphs devoted to the most common actions which are stated to be writs of mandamus, prohibition and habeas corpus.

For seven years Reynolds Robertson has been an assistant in the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States and now holds the position of Deputy Clerk. He is a senior in the law school where he matriculated in 1924 after completing his pre-legal work in Columbian College of George Washington University. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

German Club Hears Address On Germany

Professor Schatz Speaks on Tendencies in Modern Germany at Meeting

An address by Professor Schatz on the situation in modern Germany was the principal feature at the last meeting of the Schoenfeld Verein held Wednesday, April 24, at 8:30 p. m. in the Chi Omega rooms.

There are three marked tendencies to be noted in the Germany of today, Professor Schatz said. The average German is a cosmopolitan in everything, now, but particularly in his reading. He reads all the latest and best English, French, Spanish, Russian, and Scandinavian works in translation, as well as the works by the German authors. Of the English writers, Shaw and Galsworthy are the most popular.

In the universities, the students are no longer materialists as they were before the war; they are idealists—a dangerous tendency as it does not lead to productive work. And in the third place, the German is no longer saving his money. He spends it as fast as he gets it—a practice which grew up during the time when the value of the mark dropped almost every minute.

Three piano solos by Dorothy Albert were the other attraction at this meeting. These were "Valse Triste" by Debussy, "Ballade in G Minor" by Brahms, and "Clair de Lune" by Debussy.

Tentative plans were made for a banquet to be held on May 23. All members who are interested must see Professor Gropp before May 10.

BEATTY SAILS FOR ITALY

George Edward Beatty, of the class of 1927, sailed on Friday, April 12, on the S. S. Roma, for Genoa, Italy, to be gone at least two years. During this time he will visit Carrara and Rome, where he will study under Del Debbio, Roman Architect in charge of the Government Organization of Italian Boys for Physical Education. Beatty has been engaged to introduce baseball into Italy, for the benefit of the Italian boys. His plans while abroad include a houseboat trip on the Nile with friends, and a tour through Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

NORWEGIANS PREPARE FOR 900TH YEAR FETE

OSLO, Norway (IP).—Although it has been a cool 900 years since King St. Olav died at Trondhjem, Norway, the Norwegians are now preparing to celebrate that date on the 900th anniversary in 1930. Restoration of an ancient cathedral is one of the main projects in connection with the proposed event.

DR. WILBUR TO ADDRESS JEWISH STUDENT GROUP

Rabbi Schwefel and Mr. Isaac Gans Will Also Speak Before Student Forum

Dr. William Allen Wilbur, Rabbi Louis J. Schwefel, and Mr. Isaac Gans will be the speakers at the meeting of the Jewish Student Forum to be held in Corcoran Hall tomorrow, May 2, at 8:30 p. m.

The meeting will be in the form of a symposium of views on the Jewish Student. Dr. Wilbur, Provost of George Washington University, will discuss the subject from an educational viewpoint; Rabbi Schwefel from a spiritual position; and Mr. Gans, who is a member of the District Board of Education and is a leader in Washington business organizations, from a commercial outlook.

Two noted musicians, Dr. Ernest Ladovitch and Dr. Vladimir Vasa, of the Washington Conservatory of Music, will render selections on the violin and the piano, respectively. Dr. Ladovitch will be accompanied by Miss Esther Benick at the piano.

The Jewish Student Forum, the successor organization to the Menorah and the Avukah Societies, has announced that the meeting will be open to the general public. Room 1 of Corcoran Hall has been secured for this event, and a large attendance is expected. Joseph L. Mendelson, chairman of the meeting, stated that this will be one of the very few public addresses scheduled by Provost Wilbur, and that this fact coupled with the prominence of the other speakers will make the meeting an unusual attraction.

C. D. S. ELECTION SET FOR MAY 3

Officers For First Semester of Year 1929-1930 To Be Chosen

SUCCESSFUL YEAR ENDED

Columbian Debating Society to Close 101st Year with Excellent Prospects

A most successful year of debating will be ended by the Columbian Debating Society on Friday evening, May 3. Until next fall the usual forensic noise will not be heard in the neighborhood of Corcoran Hall 15 after the coming meeting.

At their last meeting this school year the members of Columbian will select their officers for the first semester of 1929-1930. New men will be chosen to the offices of president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, critic and representative to the debating council.

Society Progresses

The present administration leaves the society better than it has ever been before, according to the consensus of opinion of the members. The Columbian Debating Society can begin its 102d year under no better conditions, it has been stated.

The last formal debate of the society was held on April 26. The debaters organized themselves again into a mock senate and discussed the resolution, providing that a referendum be first held before war is declared.

In a heated debate Columbian saw for the last time several old members in action. President Laughlin delivered his valedictory before a crowd, the biggest since Al Smith and the Anti-Saloon League were the favorite themes of the debaters.

Thompson Reports Ghost Well Known

Methods Followed by Comic Publications in Midwestern Universities Studied

"The Ghost is well known and well thought of in the Middle Western universities," is the report of William Dove Thompson, chairman of the Board of Editors of the Ghost, who has just returned from a trip to three Mid-western universities, the University of Chicago, the University of Wisconsin, and Northwestern University, where he made investigations concerning their publications and publication methods. At all three the Ghost received favorable comments both as to material and organization.

In one institution the comic magazine is supported by a publications fund, which is appropriated annually from the university treasury. The editors receive a regular salary, with bonuses for exceptional work. Since there are no strictly literary publications, the comic receives the full support of the student body. Thompson reports that practically every fraternal man and sorority girl buys the humorous magazine. Sales amount to at least 1,500 copies each issue.

Several cuts from the "Phoenix," University of Chicago, and from the "Octopus," University of Wisconsin, will appear in a future Ghost. The next issue will appear as the Theoretical Number on a date as yet unannounced.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES NOTE INCREASED DEMAND

The Associated Charities and the Citizens' Relief Association and other family welfare agencies of the city connected with the Community Chest have experienced a decided increase in the number of families referred to them during January and February, for care and relief. This experience is believed to be due in part to the greatly expanded number of contributors to the Community Chest and to the public interest aroused by the Chest Campaign. The Budget Committee of the Chest will be asked to consider this problem and to deal with it constructively. No less than 740 families were under the care of the Associated Charities during the month of February, and the cash relief totaled over $7,000, the highest of any month in the society's history.

learned that among the actors to appear is one who is a close approximation to Washington's own Kate Smith. Many will attend to hear her put across a "Blue" number, which was specially written for her.

Ticket Sale Great

According to Frank Kreglow, who is in charge of the ticket sales, the early demand for seats has been unusually heavy. Tickets have been on sale since last Monday, and many of the more desirable seats have already been sold. Because of the great demand from the Washington lay population the University students are urged to secure their tickets at once if they expect to secure the seats which they desire. Differing from the custom of former years, no special reserve of tickets will be held for students this year. Formerly this was possible because of a low demand from the general public. This year, however, the general demand has increased to such an extent that it was impossible to follow the old system. It was stated today, through Edward Moulten, business manager, that the show will run for one week only, and that the possibility of a second week's run is wholly out of the question.

The board of directors of the Troubadours explained that the advance in price of admission to one and one-half and two dollars is made necessary because of the heavy expense connected with this year's production, it being enlarged and improved in every way over former presentations.

G. W. Liberal Group Attends Conference

Norman Thomas is Chief Speaker at Meeting Under Johns Hopkins Auspices

The George Washington Liberal Club was one of twelve organizations in as many schools which were represented at the Intercollegiate Liberal Conference, held at Johns Hopkins University on April 19, 20, and 21. Norman Thomas, who received about one million votes for President in 1928 on the Socialist ticket, was the principal speaker of the meeting. Mr. Thomas' two addresses were on the subjects "The College Student as a Potential Voter" and "Our Interdependent World and How We Run It."

Paul Linebarger, reporting on the state of the G. W. Club, stated that while the club is only a few months old and is not affiliated with any other organizations in or out of the University, it is making satisfactory progress. Lewis N. Dembitz acted as chairman of the group discussing the League of Nations. Other George Washington students attending the conference were Beatrice Levine, Lawrence Glehner, Robert Shostack, Robert J. Alpher, Nanette Dembitz, Ida Chernikoff, and Esther Weckler. In addition to George Washington and Johns Hopkins, Yale, Princeton, American, Howard, and Maryland Universities, Goucher, Hood, Morgan, and Western Maryland Colleges, and the Maryland State Normal School were represented.

OREGON INSTITUTIONS INCLUDED IN MERGER

SALEM, Oreg. (IP).—The Oregon Legislature has passed a bill calling for the merging of the boards of regents of the University of Oregon and State Agricultural College, and the state normal schools.

The bill completely abolishes the existing boards of regents and provides for the creation of a new board of nine members to be appointed by Governor Patterson, the term of each member ranging from one to nine years.

It is expected that the economies which will be effected by the passage of the bill will save the state one million dollars a year, and increase the efficiency of all schools affected anywhere from 25 to 75 per cent.

Margaret Loeffler, senior in Columbian College, was Features Editor on the Cherry Tree in 1927-28 and a member of the Board of Editors, 1928-29. She has been an active worker in the Y. W. C. THEATER AND MOVIES USING COLLEGE GRADS

Paul Whiteman and Richard Dix Are Among Former Students at Universities

"Ex-collegians" Claude Binyon discovers in the May College Humor, "are sprinkled throughout show business so indiscriminately as to cause someone with time on his hands to wonder how and why they got there. A study of their academic training reveals that most of them intended to enter some other profession, if they intended to enter any."

Tim McCoy went to West Point and then turned into a cowboy actor for pictures. Ed Gorman studied for the ministry and awoke to find himself a monologist in vaudeville. Paul Whiteman, no less, once studied mining at Boulder, Richard Ringling, whose dad, John, collected considerable birdseed in the circus game, landed in opera after several years of intensive preparation as a student of electrical engineering at Montana University.

Jules C. Stein, whose Music Corporation controls more than forty jazz bands, studied at the University of Chicago, Rush Medical College and the University of Vienna. He became an outstanding eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, only to return to the fiddle that helped pay his expenses through school.

Directors Are Represented

Richard Dix rested for some time at the University of Minnesota, not thinking much in particular, and eventually slid into pictures where his contract calls for salary even while resting.

"Considerable choice money and fame is being garnered in Hollywood by college graduates wielding the directorial megaphone, or—in the case of talking pictures waving a silent finger. On the Warner Brothers lot five of seven directors who once said 'yes' to profs now have enough yes-men surrounding them to start an anvil chorus. Included are Howard Bretherton of Stanford, Lloyd Bacon of Santa Clara, Archie Mayo of Columbia, Bryan Foy of De La Salle, and Michael Curtiz all the way from Budapest U."

DEBATERS BREAK EVEN IN LAST FOUR EVENTS

G. W. Women Tour Three Cities
With Two Victories to Carry Home

Betty Reeves, Marjorie Mothershead and Louise Feinstein bowed to the brilliant team from Cornell University in the first defeat suffered this season.

A novel form of debating was used in the contest. Each team presented questions and any member of the opposing team could answer it.

On Friday, May 3, a George Washington team will go to Swarthmore to debate on the merits of modern advertising. That debate will close the season.

In their last four they debated with Temple University, Philadelphia, the jury system question. Later they debated the same question with Bucknell in Lewisburg, and won both debates.

On the question, "Resolved, That the punishment of life imprisonment for the fourth conviction of a felony be adopted by all the states," they upheld the negative and lost to New York University.

The touring team is composed of Ruth Kernan, Marjorie Mothershead and Louise Feinstein.

Architecture Exhibit At National Museum

Includes Drawings on All Phases of Fine Arts; Prominent Persons
Invited to Attend

All the best of this year's work in the Department of Architecture was on exhibition in the North Lobby of the National Museum, from April 22 to 28.

Invitations were extended to many prominent persons in the city and to the members of the American Institute of Architects, who are here in convention this week.

The exhibit includes drawings on all phases of fine arts; Beaux Arts problems, water color, pencil and pen and ink sketching; life, elementary and antique classes; work in descriptive geometry, shades and shadows, and elementary structure; and working drawings in specifications. Features of the exhibition were drawings in advanced composition for mural decorations by Garnet W. Jex, the only student in the Department now trying for the degree of M. A. in Mural Decorations.

On Tuesday, April 24, the Department gave a farewell party for Albert L. Harris, for many years a professor of architecture, who is going abroad to study snake houses, in order to construct one at the Zoo and municipal centers, to build one in the District. After a talk by Mr. Harris, refreshments were served, and dancing followed.

RAILROAD OFFICER NOW MAY RIDE ON OWN LINE

ST. PAUL, Minn. (IP).—When he was elected a regent of the University of Minnesota, W. H. Gemmell, president of the Minnesota Railroad, was not allowed to ride free on his own railroad because there was a state law prohibiting state officials from receiving railroad passes.

To save Gemmell the trouble of taking the money out of his pocket to pay it in again, the state legislature has passed a law allowing him a pass on his own railroad.
